

FIFTH AVENUE BLAZE.

Fierce Early Morning Fire Opposite the Waldorf.

Occupants of the House Next to Demarest's Ordered Out.

Hotel Guests Flee a Great Battle with Flames.

There was a big fire early this morning at 235 West 23rd street, opposite the Waldorf, which surrounded the Waldorf's guests, who watched the blaze from the windows of the hotel.

The fire was in the waterworks and boiler room of the Waldorf, and the hotel guests were ordered out of the building.

The blaze was discovered by Police- man Sloan, of the Tenderloin Precinct. He was patrolling his post on Fifth avenue about 1:30 A. M. when he saw smoke coming from the windows on the top floor, and rushed to the alarm from the box at 235 West 23rd street.

When the alarm was given, the firemen were ordered out of the building, and the hotel guests were ordered out of the building.

HALSTEAD'S SLAYER. HELD.

Green Says He Did Not Know His Victim Had Heart Disease.

Fight Over a Canary Which Ended in a Death.

Matthew Green, foreman of division No. 97, of the Street-Cleaning Department, charged with the murder of James Halstead, yesterday afternoon, was held by Justice Koch, in Yorkville Police Court, this forenoon, to await the action of the coroner.

Green, who is a middle-aged, big-framed man, took things very coolly in court today. He said he was perfectly innocent of any intent to kill Halstead, and that it was a chance blow, struck in self-defense which caused the man's death.

He exhibited a very much bruised and swollen eye as evidence that he was defending himself when Halstead was killed.

The trouble was all on account of a canary bird, whose singing qualities were being discussed in John Kie's saloon at 160 First avenue.

Halstead, who was a dyer, with an establishment at 527 West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, went into Kie's place about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and after talking over the relative merits of several canaries, concluded to buy a little yellow bird, which would have been in one corner of the saloon.

Just then Green, who lives at 218 East Twenty-ninth street, entered the place. Neither of the men had ever before.

"That fine bird over there," said Green to Halstead.

"Yes," replied Halstead, "you know about it. It's a fine bird, and I'm going to buy it."

"I saw he was drunk and snatched it from him," said Green.

The man then began to call me a villain, and I struck him on the head with my fist, and he fell down. I did not know he had heart disease, or I never would have struck him. I was coming from work when the trouble occurred.

So far as can be learned, the theory that Halstead had heart disease had not been advanced by any one save Green.

While the row was being carried on in the saloon, the proprietor, Kie, ran out to get a policeman, and when he came back, he found Halstead lying on the floor.

Young Hummel says that, after Halstead struck Green in the eye, he ran and struck him on the head with his fist, and Halstead fell forward on his face, and Green stepped on his head with his foot, and he was dead when he was found.

Green ran into Murtha's saloon across the way, Police- man "Dudley," of the Twenty-ninth street station, arrested him there.

There is a story to the effect that Green had been drinking at 218 East Twenty-ninth street. He has been an employee of the Street-Cleaning Department for fifteen years.

KILLED WIFE AND CHILDREN.

And Fired His House in the Effort to Conceal His Crime.

John Smouse Accused from the Mouth of the Boy He Spared.

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—This morning at about 2 o'clock the south side fire department was called out to extinguish a slight fire in the house of John Smouse, who lived in Oak alley, on the side of the hill.

Some of the firemen in looking about the house were horrified at the sight of three dead bodies lying close to one another. They were those of Smouse's wife and two small children.

There were three ugly, deep dents in the poor woman's head, which showed that she had first been struck a deadly blow from behind; then the fearful work was finished with some blunt instrument, either a hatchet or a hammer.

The little children had the appearance of having been smothered to death, though their poor bodies also showed marks of violence.

The children were Mary and Maggie, and were four and two years old, respectively.

The husband was at once surrounded by the firemen and the police, for the fire had spread to the front of the house, and was threatening the street.

He was then taken to the police station, and after he had been examined by the police, he was taken to the police station.

There was one more child, a boy, in the family, but by some means the little one escaped the general massacre. He is only five years old, but this morning he told the police that his father killed three times with the hatchet, sobbed the little fellow.

"My mother think jealousy was the cause of the awful deed."

Tommy's TOMATOES.

Had So Many He Attracted Attention and Was Arrested.

Tommy Green, a wee lad of twelve years, of 227 West Forty-sixth street, was arraigned on a charge of burglary in the Yorkville Court today, and placed in the custody of Agent Smith, of the Gerry Society, until Police- man Green could be arrested.

The rest of the lotteries up the street station, makes a few more arrests in the case.

Tommy is a member of a gang of Lilliputian looters up on the west side near Forty-sixth and Eighth and Ninth avenues. As Tommy told the story this morning, he was in the lotteries up the street station, makes a few more arrests in the case.

There were about a dozen of them in all, and they were all very young. Tommy was the youngest, and he was the only one who was not a member of the gang.

POINTERS ON THE RACES.

No Stake Events at Monmouth, Yet the Card Appears Well.

The Second Race Looks the Best and Stonewall Should Win.

While there is nothing in to-day's card at Monmouth, over which the talent will go into ecstasies, the quality of the horses entered is good enough to insure good racing. There is a total absence of stake events, and six purses are offered for the thoroughbreds to fight for, five of which are for non-winners and maidens.

The second race, at six furlongs, with Stonewall, Chesapeake, Reckon, Fairy and Comanche in it, is by far the best race on the card, and should result in a hotly contested finish. The race for three-year-olds at the same distance, should also prove a good contest.

The track will be hard and fast. The entries and selections follow:

First Race—A sweepstakes of $15 each, with $1,000 added, heavy handicap. Five and a half furlongs.

McCarthy and Wadsworth's High Penny, 115; (1410) Ransom's Black Addie, 110; 1404 J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 108; Addie has a great pull in the weights, and after her good race the other day, should win. Woodchopper may beat High Penny for the place.

Second Race—A sweepstakes of $15 each, with $1,000 added, heavy handicap. Five and a half furlongs.

McCarthy and Wadsworth's High Penny, 115; (1410) Ransom's Black Addie, 110; 1404 J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 108; Addie has a great pull in the weights, and after her good race the other day, should win. Woodchopper may beat High Penny for the place.

Third Race—A sweepstakes of $15 each, with $1,000 added, heavy handicap. Five and a half furlongs.

McCarthy and Wadsworth's High Penny, 115; (1410) Ransom's Black Addie, 110; 1404 J. W. Smith's Woodchopper, 108; Addie has a great pull in the weights, and after her good race the other day, should win. Woodchopper may beat High Penny for the place.

Fourth Race—A sweepstakes of $15 each, with $1,000 added, heavy handicap. Five and a half furlongs.

HYGIENE IN HOUSEKEEPING.

Economizing Time and Promoting the Health of Families.

Disinfectants and the Uses to Which They May Be Put.

Hygienic housekeeping is not as popular as it will be. The gospel of health, cleanliness and domestic economy is being carried into the homes of the people by the "Evening World's" corps of free physicians, by the sanitary officers of the Health Board, by the army brigade of the Salvation Army and a few other philanthropic organizations that operate during the Summer months.

In the best educational institutions for women provision is made for special training in the domestic arts; pupils are fitted to become housekeepers, nurses, cooks, milliners, nursery governesses, industrial school teachers and sanitary inspectors. The course provides laboratory as well as scientific study; there are in many of the colleges normal classes composed of needy or orphan children, untrained servants and ignorant mothers, where, under the supervision of a head nurse, principal or matron, the student gets practice in teaching and nursing. In addition to this, lectures are given by specialists twice a week during the term. An admirable feature of the course of study is the practical application of the principles of hygiene.

Through the courtesy of manufacturers, business firms and professional associations visits are made to food factories, laundries, hospitals, public institutions and buildings in process of construction, to the interior of the city, to sanitary improvements in plumbing, heating, ventilation, etc. New hotels are being built, and the city is being made a more healthful place.
